

OUR HISTORY

SINCE SIX HUNDRED YEARS, THE GOOD FARMING PRACTICE

We respect the rules of a good farming practice and our categorical imperative is to obtain the maximum food quality without compromising the natural soil fertility that must be preserved and passed from generation to generation.

The age-old knowledge of our “for ever passionate farmers” food-chain owners, meets the most modern and advanced technologies. This guarantees the best agronomic and the most effective quality for our consumers.

Each operation is accurately controlled: the analysis and choice of the most suitable area to seed, the choice of the best period to grow, seedbed preparation, crops growth, harvest, storage, development, packaging and transport.
In harmony with the Earth for an inimitable taste.

FROM THE FIELD...

Everything starts from the earth. All the most delicate stages of growth like tillering, rising and flowering are supported by appropriate actions to ensure a proper ripening of the products. The intense taste and nutrition qualities are ensured by our production areas microclimates, by our intervention techniques and by the organic fertilizers produced in our business premises.

The harvesting phase is only carried out during the most indicated days of the summer period and it is preceded by thorough field and laboratory analysis, certifying the complete ripening and, what is most important, achievement of the quality standards required by our business philosophy.

...TO THE SEMI-FINISHED...

We only use our coaxial crawler threshing machines with specific low RPM beater and very tight-mesh sieves to eliminate impurities, waste and broken grains. This ensures a very high quality of the intermediate stage of manufacturing as well as an excellent quality of the finished product. Screenings and analysis are carried out in a specific control unit, dryers with recirculating air systems and fed by renewable sources with no environmental impact.

The natural resting stage of raw materials, especially thought to fix their specific organoleptic and nutritious qualities, precedes their transformation into finished and fresh products as they are freshly processed in the exact same harvesting situation.

... TO THE FINISHED PRODUCT

At last, each transformation stage from the raw agricultural product into finished gastronomic products is accurately planned controlled in specialized laboratories, following ancient production methods integrated with modern preserving technologies to ensure quality and organoleptic-olfactory.

The journey in our food supply chain is finished. Please sit down and enjoy the result...
